Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Wednesday 16 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Thunderstorms for parts of England Wednesday night and Thursday morning.

This Evening and Tonight:
Thundery rain moving northeastwards across England, mainly the south and east. Cloudy with a little rain for Wales and northern England. Clearer over Scotland and Northern Ireland with a few showers. Warm in the southeast but cooler in the northwest.

Thursday:
Heavy and perhaps thundery rain clearing England late morning. Mainly dry thereafter though a few showers in the northwest and perhaps late afternoon in the southeast. Less warm than Wednesday.

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Mostly dry with sunny spells, however heavy and thundery rain will affect parts of southern England on Friday. Further rain and showers again on Sunday. Less warm then recently.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.